STATE OF THE WORKFORCE REPORT

REGION 6

Report

CREATING A CULTURE OF OPPORTUNITY

in Southeast Alabama

Southeast Alabama, like most of our state, has seen major changes over the last twenty four months as we begin to settle into a new normal with our local workforce. From supply chain issues to worker shortages, it seems no business or industry has been spared.

While the modern worker movement seeks to continue improving the working conditions for all, hiring businesses desperately want to see improvements in the number of people interested in open jobs.

Sadly, across our local area, only a little better than half of our able-bodied available workers choose to participate by regularly working full time jobs.

Most counties in Region 6 have unemployment claims in the hundreds each month, but the number of people who choose not to participate in the labor force can be counted in the thousands and tens-of-thousands.

Southeast AlabamaWorks develops opportunities for our citizens to find training, apply for open jobs, and make better lives for themselves.

Job seeker participation as a ratio to available jobs continues to grow with each rural community we visit.

A HALF YEAR IN REVIEW: OUR WINS AND MILESTONES

October 2021- April 2022

Following sparsely attended WOW Varsity events in the Spring of 2021, our team realized the need to adjust our strategy and refocus our efforts.

Efforts to connect hiring businesses with job seekers only began to see traction once Alabama stopped participating in the Federal Unemployment Compensation program, drastically reducing the amount of unemployment checks.

Southeast AlabamaWorks capitalized on the momentum and started partnering with local governments and Chambers to bring decentralized career fairs to smaller communities, dubbing these our "Neighborhood Job Fairs".

A Message from the Executive Director

We have seen the labor market run the gauntlet in the past year as business and industry has constantly had to reposition itself to remain relevant and competitive.

The amount of flexibility and adaptation we have seen from our employers in Southeast Alabama is commendable, and should be celebrated.

From rotating shifts, to swinging off days, and adapted schedules - we have even see some companies adopt changes to hiring policies and onboarding restrictions.

Companies adopting more relaxed attendance policies and allowing their workers flexibility will be the ones we can't wait to see thriving in 2022-2023.

THAN PEOPLE

Not Enough

Even though turnout to job fairs has consistently increased, we are still seeing open jobs far exceed the number of participating job seekers.

There aren't enough people to fill all the opportunities.

Jobs per Job-Seeker

How do we get more people to join the workforce?

Turnout as determined by Jobs per Job-Seeker at our local events for 2021-2022:

Dothan	3.72
Elba	21.2
Enterprise	17.5
Geneva	21.4
Ozark	14.7
Troy	17.5

Too Many

We find when we work with individual job seekers, they are often unprepared to apply and interview for jobs.

In turn, we spend time with young people across our communities, to mentor and create stronger applicants.

TWO LOCATIONS

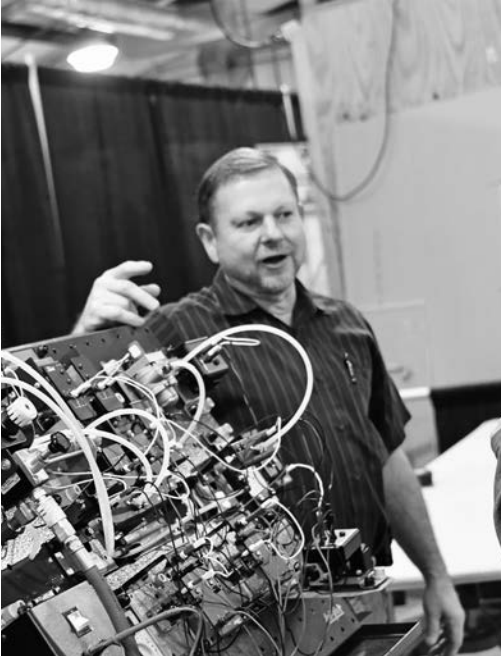

By splitting this group of 8th grade students into two events, we were able to deliver better interactions and enhanced facetime with employers.

8TH GRADE STUDENTS

We target 8th graders so they can know what courses to plan to take in high school starting in 9th grade to stay on the path to their chosen career.

11TH GRADE STUDENTS

We circle back to those 8th grade students as Juniors, and invite 11th grade CTE students to revisit WOW and their career pathway options.

Business and education came together in February to share best practices, and answer questions about work-based learning education in southeast Alabama.

In April business leaders came together to see which best practice was awarded the Governor's Seal of Excellence.

Whether it is using traditional On-The-Job Training programs, or signing unprecedented agreements between colleges, these presenters have created innovative solutions to find their students work experience opportunities.

Did you know there are several different kinds of work-based learning?

AND OTHER PROFESSIONAL ETIQUETTE LESSONS

As important as the work an employee does, is how well they fit into their work environment. With the future of our workforce at stake, we have to help prepare the next generation of employees in some non-traditional ways.

Being able to function socially - introducing yourself to others, making small talk, maintaining eye contact, starting conversations - are things many of us take for granted, yet many students miss the opportunity to learn.

Partnering with Pike County Extension Office, South Alabama Electric Cooperative, and Pike Liberal Arts School, we will be delivering pilot professional etiquette lessons to high school students and testing their applied knowledge at a luncheon May 5th.

Students will receive in-classroom instruction in preparation of sharing a meal with influential business, school, and community leaders.

This pilot program can be duplicated across our region.

A $600 Sponsorship covers a 50-person event in partnership with a school(s) of the Sponsor's choosing.

We will be pursuing grant funding to bring these initiatives to more high school students in the 2022-2023 school year.

Social Media is a valuable tool at our disposal connecting us to job seekers and hiring businesses alike.

Region 6

Up to 80K people at a time

Leveraging social media accounts and creating a recognizable presence has been the key to our abundant success engaging the public across social platforms.

We are telling the story of Southeast Alabama's workforce challenges and accomplishments, one post at a time.

We often find a disconnect between the number of open jobs, and the level of awareness of job seekers. Since we started bridging that gap in 2020, our social accounts now reach between 65-80K people every month.

Social Impacts

Addressing the disparity of opportunity awareness in our communities

7,882

An impressive 7,882 people have visited our Facebook page in the last calendar year.

21%

21% of our audience is from Dothan, and a staggering 78.6% are female.

199,367

We have reached an audience of almost 200,000 people across our platforms in the last 90 days.

INDUSTRY CLUSTER

Meetings

Bringing Like-Minded People Together

Industry Cluster Meetings bring company representatives together from multiple businesses across an industry to discuss workforce challenges and find common ground.

The objective is to start conversations that reveal common challenges, then create common goals to work toward. Clusters also guide training dollars for our local community college workforce development grants.

DALE COUNTY & OZARK CITY SCHOOLS

EDUCATOR WORKFORCE Academy

Southeast AlabamaWorks partnered with Ozark Dale Economic Development to offer a program for local educators from Dale County and Ozark City Schools.

Each school system sent teachers and administration to an immersive day of connecting with business and industry to shape the future workforce of Dale County.

HELPING EDUCATORS APPRECIATE THE IMPORTANT ROLES THEY PLAY IN PREPARING OUR FUTURE WORKFORCE.

Students learn basic employability skills starting in grade school, but we have not been doing a good enough job helping them understand the concept.

A TAILORED APPROACH TO OUR REGIONAL EVENTS

The concept of Educator Workforce Academies is not new to our area, in fact our organization has been holding these events since 2019.

While the concept has remained the same, the approach has been refined to deliver the most relevant outcomes for our partners in education.

What started as a region-wide event spanning our 10-county coverage area turned into two regional events for the educators participating in 2021.

Through the generous support of Wiregrass RC&D grant funding, we were able to extend our Educator Workforce Academies to have East and West events to divide participants between.

Allowing for East and West territories also means we can make a stronger impact by showing educators more accurate job opportunities for their students who may be going straight to work after school.

So where do we grow from here? In 2022 we had the opportunity to work with Dale County to do an even more decentralized event.

Dale County Schools and Ozark City Schools brought everyone - Superintendents, Principals, Teachers - on a day tailored for their future workforce.

Not only did they learn about careers, scholarships, and multi-million dollar training equipment available for their students, but they also never stepped foot outside of Dale County.

Estimated Cost for an Educator Workforce Academy limited to 50 people: $750

WOMEN'S Symposium

DISCUSSION & INSIGHT

In partnership with higher education, we collaborated to organize a panel comprised of "female movers and shakers" from Troy, Alabama to have an open discussion in February about ambition, overcoming obstacles, and following your dreams.

Local business leaders, entrepreneurs, and artists talked candidly about seizing opportunities, and the different pathways available to young women to create their own success.
